

Forest Keeper

Stratford is the home of a 95-acre State Nature Preserve, "Stratford Woods," which we sustain as an outdoor classroom. It includes one of the most spectacular wildflower displays in central Ohio along side an ecologically diverse buttonbush swamp and vernal pools.

Stratford Woods is privately owned by the Stratford Ecological Center and does not receive any state or federal funding for maintaining this beautiful natural eastern woodland and the 3.5 mile trail system throughout.

As a Forest Keeper, your donation will buy tools, supplies, and materials and support Stratford personnel. Your guardianship will help maintain the preserve acreage, nature trails, and bridges - all for educational use and appreciation by our visitors.

In addition to human destruction, invasive species threaten the existence of our forests. Removal of these invasive species (i.e. garlic mustard, multi-flora rose, grapevine, and Japanese honeysuckle) is critical to safeguard the unique native features within the preserve.
