

Into the Kitchen

“When I walk into my kitchen today, I am not alone. Whether we know it or not, none of us are. We bring fathers and mothers and kitchen tables, and every meal we have ever eaten. Food is never just food. It’s also a way of getting at something else: who we are, who we have been, and who we want to be.”

-Molly Wizenberg, A Homemade Life: Stories and Recipes from My Kitchen Table, 2009

Food comes from the land; however meals are prepared in the kitchen! As food, meals and eating are a big part of Stratford’s activities and programs, the Stratford kitchen is an essential component of our mission. Canning workshops, cheese and bread making classes, volunteer meals and festival food preparation all happen in the kitchen. As people in our community become more interested in growing, preparing and eating more wholesome organic foods, the demand for kitchen capacity is growing beyond our existing capabilities. “Into the Kitchen” funds will be used to provide upgrades to Stratford’s existing kitchen functions by supporting food programs and purchasing the following components:
